

Groundwater Management Districts Association

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

I'm writing you today to inform you of a great opportunity to support a valuable organization while spreading information and good will about your company. The GMDA (Groundwater Management Districts Association) is a professional organization with a national membership. Conferences are held twice a year allowing members keep up to date with new technologies and issues in groundwater management.

The 2018 Annual Conference is being held at the Hilton Capitol Center in downtown Baton Rouge, Louisiana. The conference dates are January 17-19, 2018. About 65 members are expected to attend, along with spouses.

We are trying to keep the registration costs as low as possible, and to do that we need your help.

Please consider being a sponsor of the 2018 Conference. I know many of you have contributed in the past and I'd like to thank you for your past support and see if we can count on you again. If you've never participated before, this can be a great chance for you to make new professional contacts and spread good public relations.

Enclosed is a sponsor registration form. We welcome you to come to the conference and enjoy the workshops and beautiful scenery!

Thank you for your consideration. My contact information is on the registration form if you'd like to visit more about this event.

Best wishes,

Anthony Duplechin
Vice-President

Sponsor's Packet – Annual Conference

Baton Rouge, Louisiana / January 17-19, 2018

The Groundwater Management District Association (GMDA) is composed of local groundwater management districts in several Western, Midwestern, and Southern states. At our Annual meeting, we have presentations from noted experts in the fields of hydrogeology, geology, agriculture and different water management strategies. This provides us with a forum to exchange ideas on the different approaches taken by other States. For example, the primary issue in Kansas, Colorado, and Texas is groundwater quantity, while in Nebraska it is groundwater quality and quantity. In Mississippi and Florida, Districts are responsible for the joint management of surface and ground water. Subsidence is the major issue in parts of Texas, while saltwater intrusion is an issue in Louisiana. Some Districts have developed unique projects in education and management to preserve our groundwater resources for future generations.
